

NEUTRAL NATIONS MAY CONFER ON COURSE TO BE ADOPTED IN PRESENT SUBMARINE CRISIS

Suggestion Emanates From European Nation Much Affected By the War.

STILL AWAIT OVERT ACT

Destruction of British Steamer Evestone and Death of American Seaman Occupy Center of Interest Today. Details of Sinking Not Known.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—With prospects for another day of waiting for developments of the ruthless submarine campaign that may bring war between the United States and Germany, interest centered today upon the destruction of the British steamer Evestone, in which an American seaman lost his life. Apparently officials are confident that this incident will not prove to be the overt act that will cause hostilities, but nevertheless complete reports are awaited with grave anxiety.

Earlier in the war the State Department received several similar reports of the shelling of vessels by submarines and the injury of passengers or crew in life boats, but investigation in each instance led to the conclusion that the vessels were resisting or trying to escape. If this is found to be the case with the Evestone, the act will not be regarded as illegal.

Meanwhile, a conference of neutral nations is being discussed on suggestion of one of the European neutrals most severely affected by the war and although it is believed the idea has been favorably received by President Wilson there is no definite indication that the plan will mature.

Relations with Austria are not on a sound foundation owing to the known adherence of the dual monarchy to Germany's submarine war program but certain differences in her announced intention make it uncertain just what the United States may decide to do.

The Senate today was ready to adopt a resolution endorsing the President's action in breaking relations with Germany and the House is expected to place itself on record in a similar way.

The War and Navy departments continue to formulate plans for mobilization of industrial and commercial forces as well as military so that these might be placed in operation under government direction on short orders.

Count von Bernstorff, his staff and all German consuls in this country composing a party of more than 200 will sail next Tuesday from New York on the Scandinavian liner Frederick Vif for Christiania and the State Department feels assured of guarantee of safe conduct for them from the Allies.

CONSIDERATION SHOWN FOR AMERICANS IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—There has been no change in the attitude of German people toward the United States citizens in Berlin and as far as has been heard outside the capital they have manifested consideration toward Americans since the news was received of the breaking off of diplomatic relations. Aside from an occasional frank comment on the action of the American government, no acts of a hostile or even an unfriendly nature have been reported thus far and many Germans are going out of their way to show a friendly disposition to Americans mentioned here.

The only difficulty reported thus far has been that one district headquarters of police which is charged with issuing passports to go abroad. Officials of the passport department refused to issue passports until the holders were able to show steamer tickets to America. On the other hand, the police in the main residential districts are accepting "return to America" as an adequate reason for departure but are insisting that the customary interval of a fortnight for military investigation of the application cannot be waived. The foreign office to which the American newspaper correspondents in a way are accredited has shown every disposition to facilitate the departure of such correspondents.

NO CHANGE IN STATUS OF SHIPS INTERNEED HERE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—State Department officials reiterated today that sailings of American ships to the war zone still were questioned for private individuals and that the government had taken no action although some statement of its attitude might be issued soon for their guidance. It was also intimated that there was no change in the status of interned ships in American ports.

BLOCKADE DOES NOT HALT MUNITION SHIPMENTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The German blockade order has not delayed the transportation of war materials and munitions from the United States to Great Britain and France. Cargo manifests in the customs house here show that five steamships now on their way from this port to Europe carry enough contraband and war goods to equip an army corps.

NORTHERNERS IN FLORIDA SHIVER

Down to 28 on February 2, Kell Long Writes; J. M. Decker Wants Blankets

Fayette county, Pennsylvania, took first honors in the horseback pitching tournament conducted last week by the Northerners wintering at St. Petersburg, Florida. J. Robinson of Uniontown won 17 games and lost but two. After winning out in the finals by defeating F. M. Brust, Mr. Robinson was presented with a beautiful "cut glass" dish, but during the presentation it was accidentally dropped on a pile of horseshoes and smashed. Mr. Robinson was much put out until he learned it was from a 5 and 10-cent store.

Kell Long of Connellsville won 10 games and lost 9 in the tournament. He won 10 friends here that he was compelled to enter with much chance to practice and predicts that when he goes going good he will make them all blisters.

Among the new arrivals in the St. Petersburg colony are G. A. Munson and family. Others there are Dr. G. W. Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Stahl, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Goodwin and Mrs. Lillian Koyser.

The mercury hit 28 above on February 2, the light being the coldest ever experienced on the west coast.

J. M. Decker of Scotland is an other who complains of the cold in "sunny" Florida. "Weather conditions not normal," he writes, "expecting to change address. Indian river fruit not harmed by freezing. Myrtle Island more favorable than on the mainland. We need a dozen good blankets."

WELFARE MEETING

W. J. Rainey Officers and Doctors in Session at Uniontown.

Superintendents and doctors of the various plants of the W. J. Rainey interests met yesterday afternoon in the offices of the company located in the First National Bank Building, Uniontown, and discussed topics of interest. The program included a review of the first aid and general welfare work handled during 1916, and the distribution of several thousand dollars in bonuses to the officials, doctors, and other employees of the plants in recognition of the first aid work, and efficient methods adopted during the past year. Improvement along these lines for 1917 were also discussed. Immediately after the meeting the entire body adjourned to the Uniontown Country Club where dinner was served.

Among those present were Dr. J. L. Junk of Connellsville, Dr. Burkholder of Mount Pleasant, E. B. Martin of Meyer, A. A. Mitchell and Dr. C. B. Johnson of Vanderburg, F. C. Chambers and Dr. J. B. Carroll of Elm Grove, J. T. Harshman of S. S. Lyons, J. R. Anderson and E. J. Lyons of Mount Pleasant.

English Minister Will Cross Ocean Despite Activity of Submarines.

The proposed ruthless submarine warfare of Germany will not deter Rev. G. W. Buckner of Southampton, England, from coming to America to conduct evangelistic services for his son, Rev. C. C. Buckner, pastor of the Christian Church here, it is expected. Members of the official board which met last night, feel that the danger of the crossing is no greater than two years ago, when Rev. Buckner, after conducting meetings here, returned to his home just after the declaration of a blockade by the Germans.

Rev. G. W. Buckner recently cabled his son here that he would be unable to come to Connellsville to conduct revival meetings until April. The church board voted to have a campaign then, and last night appointed committees and made arrangements for a series of services to begin on Sunday, April 1, and continue three weeks.

Mrs. C. W. Buckner, according to a letter received by Rev. C. C. Buckner this morning, sailed from England, January 20, and arrived in New York on the St. Louis.

TO EXTRADITE BOONE

Elmer Boone, arrested here on a charge of shooting Harvey Moxley at Cooksville, Md., on December 21, 1916, was arraigned in court this morning. He admitted he was the man wanted and consented to be extradited to Maryland. Boone was taken to court by Chief of Police Rottler.

SEEKS A DIVORCE

Mrs. Esie M. Upholzer, 25 years old of Uniontown, yesterday filed suit for divorce from John W. Upholzer of the same city. The action followed the arrest of Mrs. Upholzer on a charge of larceny of valuables from her husband's home. The couple once resided in Connellsville.

UPHOLD ROCKEFELLER DECISION

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6.—The United States circuit court of appeals here today upheld a decision of the United States district court which ruled that John D. Rockefeller does not have to pay taxes to Cuyahoga county, Ohio on $311,000,000 worth of property.

PIPE THAWING CAUSES FIRE

A small fire resulting from thawing out frozen water pipes called the fire department to the home of J. W. White, 127 Witter avenue, at 9:10 o'clock this morning. The flames were extinguished with hand chemicals.

SCHOOL BOARD HAS HARD JOB FILLING VACANCY IN GRADES

Smithton Girl Elected Some Time Ago, Unable to Accept Position.

TEACHERS HARD TO FIND

Township School Districts Refuse to Let Their Teachers Go at This Time of the Year and Most Instructors Are Engaged; Other Matters Up.

The school board is again faced with a teaching vacancy in the schools, since Mike Garnet Rhodes of Smithton has found that she will be unable to accept, this year, the position of instructor in the sixth grade. Second Ward school, to which she was recently elected. At the regular meeting of the directors last evening, Superintendent S. P. Ashe of the public schools was given authority to engage a teacher for the place.

Mr. Ashe will have a hard time finding a teacher, he said, at this time of the year. The township schools will not let their teachers go, usually, and few instructors are without positions. The vacancy in the local schools originated with the resignation of Miss Ethel Buckingham.

The question of heating apparatus for the new high school building came up again, but was not decided. Representatives of the Houghton-American and the Johnston Service companies were present and exhibited their metal and rubber diaphragms and thermometers to the board. The Johnston Service man said he was very much surprised to find that the question had been reopened, as the McGinness company, which has the general heating contract, had given him to understand that the matter was settled and that his firm was to install its system. The matter was left open.

The directors announced, however, that they had concluded to place metal diaphragms only in the underground ducts, and rubber diaphragms throughout the building.

A letter from O. L. Eaton of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad asking what arrangements could be made for the use of Fayette Field during the summer by the railroad teams, provoked a rather lengthy discussion. The directors insisted, of course, that the Baltimore & Ohio should not interfere with the high school games, or come on the same dates, and that the railroad teams should see that the field was in good condition. One director suggested that the railroad be required to submit a schedule of its games, before the matter was decided.

All agreed that if admission is charged or a collection taken at these games, the school district should receive a percentage. Fayette Field is leased by the board of education from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and a rental paid. The question was left in the hands of the property committee, which will take it up with Mr. Eaton.

The matter of supplies for the coming year was not taken up. The prices quoted to the board recently had dropped for 30 days with a few exceptions, and it was decided not to place the orders until later.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $11,275.15 in the general fund; $384.35 in sinking fund No. 1; $14,084.95 in sinking fund No. 2.

W. C. Eccles, architect of the new high school building, was present at the meeting. The directors present were President J. R. Davidson, C. Roy Hetzel, R. K. Long, J. W. Ralston and W. W. Smith.

School Board Dismissed With Verdict in Solis Case.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Feb. 6.—The Connellsville school board today made application for a new trial in the case in which W. H. Solis appeared from the award of the viewers for his lot on East Fairview avenue.

The board claims the verdict of $6,784.15 was against the weight of the evidence, that the amount is excessive and for a sum unjust and unreasonable.

Originally the viewers awarded Mr. Solis $5,500 for his lot. He took an appeal and a jury last week awarded him $5,500 with interest from May 9 last, or a total of $6,784.15.

14 VESTRYMEN ATTEND DINNER

Five Episcopal Churches Represented at Banquet at Arlington Hotel.

Plans for the organization of the Episcopal Church in this field, which includes Uniontown, Connellsville, Monaca, Dunbar and Scotland, were discussed at length following a dinner for the vestrymen and vestrymen of the Episcopal Church, held last evening at 6 o'clock in the private dining room of the Arlington Hotel. Covers for 14 were laid. The churches represented were St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Uniontown; St. Bartholomew's Church, Scotland; St. John's Church, Dunbar; and Trinity Episcopal Church, Connellsville. The Great Church, Monaca, was represented by the Uniontown representatives.

Rev. A. N. Clayton of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Uniontown; Russell Carr of Uniontown; Rev. Milton S. Canagar, vicar of the Trinity Episcopal Church; and R. W. Dawson of Uniontown, gave addresses. Mr. Carr spoke on how to handle the financial end of the church to the best advantage. For collecting dues, he favors the duplex collection system adopted by St. Peter's Church, Uniontown. It was reported that the church here is in excellent shape financially.

R. W. Dawson outlined the plan of the associated churches of the region, and mapped out a program for the future. The addresses were followed by a round table and discussion.

The following were present: Rev. A. N. Clayton, Russell Carr, R. W. Dawson and Rev. Milton S. Canagar, of Uniontown; Rev. W. Greaves, O. K. Barnes, John Stannus and Harry Adams, of Dunbar; Robert Mitchell and Clement Kropp, of Scotland; John Wilcox, A. E. Vannatta, J. S. Bryner and L. W. Brown, all of this city.

WEATHER MODERATES

Gas Shortage Relieved by Rise in Temperature.

Slowly rising temperatures followed yesterday's severe cold, the mercury falling to drop below zero in Connellsville. The lowest mark reached, according to the official thermometer on the West Penn Building, was 4 above. The highest figure, however, was 18, which indicates rather cold weather. Promises of further moderation are held out by the weatherman in his noon forecast today.

The gas shortage was relieved by the rise in temperature, and the pressures today are high. Some domestic consumers have made complaints to the company, but their troubles have been quickly remedied by employees. Early last evening there was a slight shortage, but the pressures were soon full again.

KEPHART IN COMMAND

Panama Canal Locks Guarded by Brother of Local Man.

News from Washington that the Panama canal locks have been carefully guarded since the notice of German submarines' intention to wage ruthless submarine warfare, is of interest here, since Colonel Samuel A. Kephart, a brother of Harmon M. Kephart of Connellsville, is in command of the two forts which guard the Colon or Atlantic coast entrance to the canal.

Colonel Kephart commands a picked company of coast artillery, winning the two forts and handling 16 inch guns. He sailed from New York for Colon last November 20. Colonel Kephart is also a brother of Superior Court Justice John W. Kephart of Ebensburg.

AGENT PROMOTED

S. J. Tipton to Be Traveling Passenger Agent for B. & O.

S. J. Tipton, city ticket agent for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company for over a year, has been promoted to be traveling passenger agent for the company with headquarters in Washington, D. C. As the promotion does not take effect for a week or 10 days, Mr. Tipton's successor has not been announced.

Prior to coming to Connellsville, Mr. Tipton was Baltimore & Ohio ticket agent at Morgantown. During his stay in Connellsville he has formed a wide acquaintance, and is generally liked. He was made agent here to succeed G. P. Sellers, who was promoted to be city passenger agent in Pittsburgh and later to traveling passenger agent.

INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION OPENS AT ARMORY WITH LARGE CROWD DESPITE THE VERY COLD NIGHT

STUDENTS FOR TUBE, FOOL TEACHER AND SKIP SOME LESSONS.

At chapel in high school yesterday, Principal B. E. Smith announced that if any of the class rooms were too cold, the students should return to study hall and "dispose" with that recitation period.

Some agile-minded youth who did not know his lesson put an article on the thermometer of one of the class rooms and when the teacher came in he found the mercury down to 30 and all of the students shivering. Their pretense was so good that the teacher had a chill himself and sent the class back to study hall.

B. & O. VETERANS TO ORGANIZE SOON

75 Applications for Membership; Hope to Get Started On February 15.

The efforts of P. J. Harrigan to organize a branch of the Baltimore & Ohio Veterans Association here, will be successful, according to present indications. Mr. Harrigan has secured 75 applications for membership in the association already, and before the ceremonies of organization are held, he expects to have quite a few more. The association is open to those who have seen 20 years of service, and there is an assessment fee of $1 a year. The aim is to establish a branch of the organization in every division, at division headquarters. Officers will be elective.

In addition to the social features of the scheme, the veterans would pledge financial assistance to families of deceased members who were in actual want, and provide education for children of such deceased members.

Mr. Harrigan hopes to get the association organized on February 15. He has written to officials at Baltimore, asking that some one be sent here on that date to organize this branch, and it is likely that his request will be complied with. Organizer Summers will probably be sent.

LEAGUE FORMED

Six Clubs Scheduled in City Basketball Series.

At a meeting of representatives of basketball teams that will make up the league last evening, an organization was effected, officers elected, and a few games scheduled in order to get the league going. The organization will be known as The Principal & Business Men's Basketball League of Connellsville, and consists of lodge teams and business firm teams. At present there are six quintets, three lodges and three other concerns being represented.

The first game of the league will be played Friday night at the Macabee Hall, between Mount Braddock and Overholt. Two others have also been scheduled for the following week, games to be played every Tuesday and Friday nights. Preliminary games between the girls' teams will also be played.

The teams represented last evening were the Macabees, Elks, Moose, Overholt, Mount Braddock, and Baltimore & Ohio clubs. J. P. Trader was elected manager of the Macabees; Lloyd Shaw, Elks; James Edenbo, Overholt; Earl Martin, Baltimore & Ohio; Smith Matthews, Mount Braddock; and E. M. Gross, Moose.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, E. M. Gross; vice chairman, Smith Matthews; secretary, Earl Martin; treasurer, James Edenbo. Only bona fide employees of the company or corporation which they represent, or members of the fraternal orders will be allowed to engage in the games, unless by special permission. No transfer of players from one team to another will be allowed except by agreement.

GOOD TURNOUT

Best Showing Since First of Year Made Last Night at Drill.

One of the best turnouts for drill since the first of the year was made by Company D last night, when 40 guardsmen reported at the armory. As the auditorium was occupied by the exposition, drill was held in a large room on the second floor.

The guardsmen do not receive pay for drill except on nights when two-thirds of the company report. At present there are 97 names on the company roll and many of these are from out of town points, and unable to appear at the armory. Requests have been sent in by several of these to have their names transferred to other guards in towns in their locality, so they may serve out the enlistments there.

Cadet drills will be resumed regularly next Monday evening.

Hogs at $12.00

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 6.—Active buying credited to speculative interests at the York Island stockyards today forced the price of hogs to $12.00.

Merchants and Manufacturers of City Have Attractive Displays.

MANY PRIZES AWARDED

Nightly Offer of 35 Gold Pieces and Various Other Valuable Articles Donated by Merchants Attract Big Crowds; Booths Are All Pretty.

Despite the cold weather last evening, the opening of the exposition at the armory was well attended, and those in charge of the booths had an appreciable audience during the entire evening.

The armory presented a pretty appearance from all angles. It was well lighted and all the booths were supplied with plenty of clothes to show up the decorations. All available space had been filled, but leaving a comfortable margin for the crowd to move about in. Music was furnished throughout the evening by Kiefer's orchestra.

At 9 o'clock the prizes were awarded. A 25 pound sack of flour was won by Miss Phyllis Albrecht, of 410 Willis Road, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Albrecht.

Thomas Newmyer, 507 South Pittsburg street, won $5 in gold; Ivan Lowrey, 1127 Sycamore street, a towel rack, donated by William Sellers; and also six pounds of macaroni, donated by the Connellsville Macaroni Company, and Mrs. C. D. Bailey, 212 East Green street, strip of bacon, donated by McCormick's meat market. Mr. Lowrey who won two prizes, brought several persons with him and two of his numbers were drawn.

All admission tickets sold for last night and also during the week of the exposition should be saved by those receiving them as later on in the week another prize will be awarded. The same to be drawn from a bowl containing stubs from all tickets sold.

This afternoon was school children's day. All school children were admitted free. The Tri-State Candy Company gave away sample candies and other booths also treated the children.

On Wednesday the ladies will be admitted free in the afternoon, this being known as ladies' day. There will be a special guessing contest for ladies in the afternoon. It has not been announced as yet what this contest will be but may be held as a surprise for the women. Two prizes, a 50 pound sack of Pillsbury's flour, from Perry & Henderson, and a dollar box of Sparrows' chocolates, from the Tri-State Candy company, will be given.

Wednesday night will be known as prize night. That evening will be the big night at the exposition and to top it off an extra large number of useful prizes will be given away. These prizes will be announced in Wednesday's Courier.

Tonight the big prize will be $5 in gold. In addition to this the Westmoreland Grocery Company has donated one half dozen cans of assorted canned goods; the Connellsville Macaroni Company will give away six pounds of macaroni; A. B. Kutz, a Ben alarm clock; J. M. Young, a small sack of Radisson's flour; William Sellers, another towel rack; Kiefer brothers, two pounds of White Rose coffee; Perry & Henderson, a 25-pound sack of Pillsbury's flour; and the Tri-State Candy Company a dollar box of Sparrows' chocolates. Miss Pauline Gastor of Hyndman will sing.

Probably the most quickly beautiful booth in the afternoon is that of the Wright-Metzler Company in the corner of the hall. It is aglow with "color," lavender, rose, and white, blended in a delicate way. The lighting is subdued. The display of spring styles for ladies and gentlemen, is tastefully arranged. Edward L. Sudzik is responsible for the decoration. The E. Dunn Store has a large booth to one side that is a model of tastefulness. The spring styles displayed there will be changed daily, but the Midway corset and Melba toilet preparations features will be permanent throughout the week. Samples of Melba powder are given away at this stall. Miss Mary Rita Brookman being in charge. P. G. Goebert decorated the booth, which represents a lovely room.

Another attractive spot in the hall is that in which Koback's display ladies' ready-to-wear spring styles. The color scheme carried out here is one of apple-green and cream, and vicia. Forms the chief decoration. Members of the force are in charge and L. R. Exline was decorator.

In one corner of the armory is the big booth occupied by the Westmoreland Grocery Company in charge of F. E. Koelker. Melrose coffee, fruit and other foods are served here. The West Penn's place is filled with electric ranges, vacuum cleaners, toasters, irons, sewing machines, and other paraphernalia. A demonstrator is in charge.

Boys' Porters Company are displaying the Young Pitts manufacturer at their shops here. C. N. Stoner, general manager of the plant, is at the booth.

The West Mills Garage display three cars in the center of the building.

NOVEL FEATURES IN SCOTSDALE'S MINSTREL SHOW

Talented Amateurs in Big Production at the Opera House Last Night.

A LARGE CROWD ATTENDS

Despite Cold Weather Attendance Is Very Good and Audience Gets More Than the Worth of Its Money. Original Piano Act Put on in Afternoon.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Feb. 6.—The first performance of the second annual engagement of the Y. M. C. A. minstrel at the opera house drew a large audience despite the very cold night and the show being one of the best ever produced here. An even larger crowd is expected tonight. The minstrel was the old style black-face kind with all the performers, circle and ends alike, disguised with burnt cork and wigs. The stage setting was novel and the orchestra was placed on an elevation in the rear of the stage.

The first part was fine, but it was in the olio where the star performances were given. In the first part big Ed Alden and Lewis Wooster, the premier ends, were just as funny as any professional minstrels and their fellow joke-makers. D. R. Bixler, Russell Hockberry, Meads Tannehill and Russell Hollins were not far behind when it came to good comedy lines and business. E. R. Dalton, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the intercomedian and he had all the pulse of the center man in any stage show. The musical numbers included "Pray for the Lights to Go Out," well sung by "Boo" Wooster; "Mammy's Little Coal Black Koss," by Samuel Miller; "I Ain't Got Nobody," by Ed Alden; "Twas Only an Irishman's Dream," by Charles Lewellyn; "I'm Settled Up the Means to Get to New Orleans," by Russell Hollins; "The Sunshine of Your Smile," by Edward Rutherford; "How Could Washington Never Tell a Lie and be a Married Man," by D. R. Bixler; "Because," by Simon Miller; and "Sometimes You Get a Good One and Sometimes You Don't," by Meads Tannehill.

Others in the chorus were Fred Seaman, Frank Miller, Robert Smith, George Reed, Ralph Bixler, William Muir, Harold Atwood and Frank Kellar.

The big act of the olio was put on by Frank Kellar, Thomas Carlisle and Lewis Wooster. The curtain disclosed Kellar and Carlisle dressed as stage hands tugging two pianos about the stage in preparing it for a piano act. After some preliminaries they discovered that each can thump the piano a little and they decide to put on an act. After they play a popular rag on the two instruments, Lewis Wooster in blackface sings "When Major Phyllis Throes Minor Melodies." Then the pianos play some more ragtime and while they put over "Poor Butterfly," Wooster comes on in ballet costume and does a side-splitting butterfly dance. The act ended with the piano players trying to play standing on their heads. After vainly trying they turn the pianos back to the audience and create the effect of standing on their heads by sticking shoes up over the front of the instruments.

Bixler and Guest made a big hit with their tumbling act; Samuel Miller, as "The Virginia Judge," scored a genuine hit; and A. H. Swartz played a violin solo artistically. The surprise of the olio was the appearance of Secretary Dalton in a Buster Brown make-up in a monologue. It was fine. It. H. Barkell, the director, deserves a good deal of credit for the show. It will be repeated tonight at 8.15.

UNDERPRICED GAS RANGES MEAN OVERHIGH GAS BILLS.

The first cost of a Gas Range is a small matter comparatively. It is the cost of the operation the year around that counts. Therefore, you are vitally interested in the fact that:

It Costs One-quarter Less to Operate Our Gas Ranges Than Any Other Make.

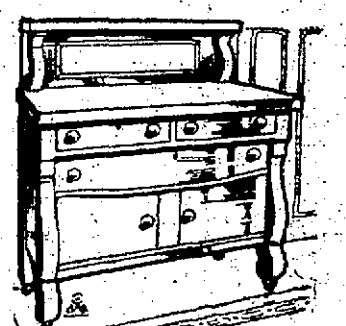

NEW PROCESS GAS RANGES ARE THE BEST MADE.—And mind you, this is not just a carelessly uttered statement made to influence your selection of a Gas Range here. EVERY MOTHER WANTS A BOUNCING BABY

Thompson's Food (Peptonized) is regularly adapted to infant feeding, as it is most nearly like mother's milk. It contains all the elements necessary to the proper growth of the infant and is the only brand of food containing in combination the food values of pure, sweet milk, select barley malt and the elements of beef juice.

If you want your baby to become strong, healthy, full of life and vigor, feed it Thompson's Food (Peptonized). It is a complete food in itself. Very easily prepared by the mere addition of water. It is not a milk modifier. Its use eliminates the danger usually associated with the local milk supply.

HISTORY OF U-BOAT DISPUTE

From Philadelphia Ledger

PART II. Ludlow's "Warning."

On May 1, 1915, the German liner Lusitania was sunk off the coast of Ireland by a submarine. The sinking of this ship caused a great deal of excitement in America and elsewhere. The American government at first took no action, but later declared that it would be attacked if the ship was sunk again. This was the first time that the United States had taken a stand against Germany. The sinking of the Lusitania was a great blow to Germany, and it was a warning to the world that Germany was not to be trifled with.

THE BUTTON SHOES.

The button shoe is a popular article of dress which is hard to get on and off than the evening gown with 12 buttons and eyes.

The inventor of the button shoe has been discovered, but if he is a man of letters, he will have one of the most abrupt and successful denials in the history of the world. The button shoe was invented by a man who died in the morning while his wife was setting the table. He was a man of letters, and he was a man of letters.

With the advent of the button shoe, however, every man who owned a pair found that he required more time to make his toilet than a June bride. It is a peculiar fact that a pair of new button shoes which fitted perfectly down at the store will begin to shrink as soon as they are exposed to the outside air. When the owner sits or squats into them the next morning he will be greeted by three or four sudden explosions caused by the buttons flying off and falling under the chair. The buttons are then put back on by a machine which locates them in a new spot where they can hold a hole in the owner's ankle at every step.

After the button shoe had been on the market long enough to expose its treacherous character, some budding genius patented the lace shoe which is about as easy to put together as a gasoline engine. A nimble woman can take a pair of lace shoes and immediately after the dinner hour and by working rapidly with the assistance of a capable maid can have them fully assembled in time for the theatre across the town. However, until there is nothing in the house that looks like an expert of the shoemaking or the shoemaking is closed for the week end.

INDUSTRIAL EXPO OPENS AT ARMORY WITH BIG CROWD

ing: the new 8-cylinder Williams-Knight, the Hudson Super-Six, with patented balanced crank shaft, and the new Overland sport model, the Country Club, G. E. Albright and N. E. Harmon are in charge.

The West Side Garage exhibit a 1917 model Buick touring car and a 1917 model seven passenger Marmon. John Rhodes, manager of the garage, is in charge.

One of the most interesting booths in the place is that of the Aaron Company, displaying the Hoosier kitchen cabinet. Capable demonstrators were on hand last night to explain the merits of the cabinet, and quite a few people gathered about the stall to look the Hoosier over. The Aaron booth is very tastefully arranged.

The first booth to the right as one enters the building is that of Chiroco to Brothers, art photographers. The Chiroco staff are doing their best work, and it is truly good.

The Riverside Metal Refining company has the next booth. The Riverside people manufacture solder, babbit and white metal alloys, and their business has become one of Connellsville's first industries. Specimens of their work, and literature explaining the business are seen at their exposition booth. In charge is A. B. Norton, general manager.

A booth occupied jointly by William Sellers, the plumber, and Irl J. Palmer, the decorator, is likely to attract much attention. It will be fitted out as a bathroom, fully equipped. Mr. Sellers, who is to supply the fixtures, was unable to complete the booth yesterday, but everything will be ready today. Mr. Palmer has finished his part of the work, having painted a very beautiful bathing scene on the rear wall and stenciled the sides with a neat design. Mr. Sellers' exposition plans also include the presentation of coupons, the numbers of which will later be used in drawing for some lucky person who will get a free trip to the inauguration at Washington.

The Erie Hardware company's booth, in charge of R. E. Grim, presents a display of Cut-Namel, for graining, varnishing and all interior woodwork. Souvenir coupons, good for a can of Cut-Namel each, are presented.

The Tri-State Candy company is making a specialty of Tri-a-Pop attackers, and other goods made here, and of Sparrow's chocolates. These brands of candy they are distributing free at their stall as there are chances on a five pound basket of sweets to be given away Saturday night. Miss Mary Pigman and Manager H. L. Carpenter are in charge.

At the stall of the Leonard Furniture company, the International electric bench washer, and patent suction cleaners and wringers are being featured. A. G. Leonard and J. R. Chichester, special factory representative, are in charge.

New Method gas ranges are the feature at the Anderson-Loucks Hardware company's booth. C. L. Hurst and W. F. Gressman are in charge at this stall.

At the Crowley-Montezant company's place a striking decorative scheme has been carried out. The sheets which cover the walls are reproductions of famous paintings of Washington and the heroes of '76. Spring shoes and evening shoes are on display. C. A. Crowley and George Reagan are in charge.

J. W. McClaren's booth is well decorated. Mr. McClaren, who is agent for Footie's dye works here, has devoted his stall chiefly to this feature of his business.

The Rappoport-Fetherman company, furniture dealers, show a handsome dining room suite of Jacobean design. This booth is very pretty and elicits much favorable comment.

One of the most popular booths last night was, of course, the one occupied by the Rose Ice Cream company, in charge of Albert L. Rose. It was quite prettily arranged.

Paul McDonald has a neat display, consisting of vacuum cleaners, electric washers, and other electrical goods, and victrolas. Mr. McDonald and J. D. Stillwagon were in charge.

Arthur Freed occupies a large booth, displaying pianos and talking machines. Mr. Freed was in charge last night.

M. Bernardo, owner of the Five and Ten Cent Wall Paper company, has one of the prettiest spots in the armory.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens so Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

New Teacher Elected, W. C. T. U.
Given Permission to Lecture in Schools on Cigarette Smoking; Other
News Items of a Day in This Town.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 6.—At a meeting of council last night, it was decided to make an investigation to discover who sent in the call to the Scottdale firemen when a series of fires threatened several buildings in the business section about three weeks ago. The council is very grateful to Scottdale for the assistance given and as it turned out, outside aid was really necessary, but objection is made to the practice of individuals summoning aid from outside. In the future, Scottdale will be asked not to respond unless the fire chief calls.

In the next Mount Pleasant has always sent the Scottdale firemen a substantial check whenever they helped fight a fire. If the individual who sent in the call on this occasion is discovered, he will be asked to send such a check himself, inasmuch as he took the authority of summoning aid.

STUBBORN ECZEMA HEALED BY AMOLOX

Relief and Cure for Chronic Skin Diseases

We are daily receiving letters of praise from people who have been cured by Amolox. Many of them tell how, for years, they have tried different remedies and doctors in the vain effort to find relief. Some became discouraged and lost all hope of ever being cured. P. H. Plesner, 117 Sycamore St., Mansfield, O., writes: "Our baby's face was covered with eczema, scales, dandruff and scales. She was a little sight. We tried everything. Took her to Pittsburgh doctors but were unable to find any relief until we used Amolox. It cured her within a short time."

Amolox ointment alone will quickly banish pimples, blackheads and take out all redness of the skin and cure most forms of skin disease. Bad, chronic cases of Eczema, Psoriasis, Itch, that have lasted for years, yield more quickly when both ointment and liquid are used.

Send postal for free sample to Amolox Laboratories, Youngstown, Ohio. Try Amolox today. Trial size 50c. If it fails to do what is claimed of it money will be cheerfully paid back by Connellsville Drug Co.

CHAPTER X

The New Roadman.

There are no more beautiful valleys anywhere than those cut by the waters of primeval floods through the foothills of the great snow-covered Rocky mountains. The erosion and washings of untold centuries have flung out in front of the granite ramparts of succession of lower elevations like the bastions of a fortress. At first scarcely to be distinguished from the main range in height and ruggedness these excellent and escarpments gradually decrease in altitude and size until they turn into a series of more or less disconnected, softly rounded hills, like outlying earthworks, finally merging themselves by gradual slopes into the distant plains overlooked by the great peaks of the mountains.

The anatomy of these blue-clad, wind-swept slopes is broken even in the low hills by outcroppings of stone, sometimes the hard lencous rock, the granite of the mountains, more frequently the softer red sandstone of a period later, yet doubtfully old. These cliffs, buttes, hills and mesas have been weathered into strange and fantastic shapes which diversify the landscape and add charm to the country.

The narrow canyons in which the snowed streams take their rise gradually widen as the water follows its tortuous course down the mountains through the subsiding ranges and, among the foothills to the sandy and windy plains beyond. At the entrance of one of the loveliest of these broad and verdant valleys, a short distance above its confluence with a narrower, more rugged ravine through the hills, lay the thriving little town of Coronado.

Some twenty miles back from the town at a place where the valley was narrowed to a quarter of a mile, and separating it from the paralleling ravine, rose a huge sandstone rock called Spanish Mesa. Its top, some hundreds of feet higher than the level of the hills, was mainly level. From its high elevation the country could be seen for many miles, mountains on one hand, plains on the other. It stood like an island in a sea of verdure. Little spurs and ridges ran from it. Toward the range it descended and contracted into a narrow saddle, vulgarly known as a "hog-back," where the granite of the mountains was hidden under a deep covering of grass-grown earth, which formed the only dividing line between the valley and the gorge or ravine, before the land, widening, rose into the next hill.

The people came from miles away to see that interesting and curious mesa, much more striking in its appearance than Baldwin's knob, the last foothill below it. Transcontinental travelers even broke journey to visit it. The town prospered accordingly, especially as it was admirably situated as a place of departure for hunters, explorers, prospectors and adventurers, who sought what they craved in the wild hills. There were one or two good hotels for tourists, unusually extensive general stores of the better class, where hunting and prospecting parties could be outfitted, and the high-living, extravagant cattle ranchers could get what they demanded. Besides all these there were the modest homes of the lovers of the rough but exhilarating and health-giving life of the Rocky mountains. Of course there were numerous saloons and gambling halls, and the town was the haunt of cowboys, hunters, miners, Indians—the old frontier with a few touches of civilization added.

What was left of the river, which had made the valley—and during the infrequent periods of rain too brief to be known as the rainy season, it really lived up to the name of river—flowed meekly through the town, when it flowed at all, under the name of Pickett Wire. When the railroad came the Pickett Wire had been first studied in the hope of finding a practicable way over the mountains, but the ravine on the other side of the mesa had been found to offer a shorter and more practicable route. And by the way, this ravine, taking its name from the little brook far down in its narrow was known as the "Kicking Horse."

So the railroad ran up the ravine and the Pickett Wire was left still virgin to the assaults of man. But the day came when it was doomed of its little brook standing, untroubled inaccessibility. Shouts of men, creaking of wheels, wordless but vocal protests of beasts of burden mingled with the clanging of axes, the detonations of dynamite. The whistle of engines and the roar of steam filled the valley. Under the direction of engineers, a huge mound of earth arose across its narrowest part, nearest a shoulder, of spur, of the mesa reaching westward. No more should the silver Pickett Wire flow unimpeded on its way to the sea. It was to be dammed.

All that the huge, hot inferno of baked plain, where sage brush and buffalo grass alone grow, needed to make it barren with wheat and corn was water. The little Pickett Wire, which had wandered and sparkled and chattered on at its own sweet will, was now to be held until it filled a great lake-like reservoir in the hills back of the new earth dam. Then through skillfully located irrigation ditches the water was to be given to the millions of hungry little wheatears and cornets which would clamor for a drink. The fierce sun was no longer to work its untoward will in burning up the prairie.

With the promise of water on the plain beyond, Coronado sprang into new and more vigorous life. In the language of the West it "boomed." The railroad had been a fortune branch coming up into the mountains and cutting north here. Its first builders had been daunted by difficulties and lack of money, but as soon as the great dam was projected which would open several hundred thousand acres for cultivation and serve as an inspiration in its practical results to other similar attempts, people came swarming into the country buying up the land the price for every acre steadily mounting. The railroad accordingly found it worth while to take up the long-abandoned construction work of mounting the main and crossing it. Men suddenly observed that it was the shortest distance between two cardinal points and one of the great transcontinental railroads bought it and began improving it to replace its original rather unsatisfactory line.

The long wooden trestle which crossed the broad, sandy depression in front of the town, the bed of the ancient river, through which the Pickett Wire had further down its affluent, the Kicking Horse, flowed humbly and modestly, was being replaced by a great viaduct of steel. Far on the gorge past the other side of the dam, which men another higher trestle had already been replaced by a splendid steel arch. A siding had been built near the ravine, a path made to the foot of the mesa, and arrangements were being made to run a local train up from the town when all was completed to give the people an opportunity to ride up the gorge and see the great pile of rock, on which enterprise was already planning the destruction of a summer hotel, the blasphemy of an amusement park.

Up the valley of the Pickett Wire one morning in early fall came a young man roughly dressed like the average cow-puncher from the ranches further north. He rode well, yet with a certain attention to detail and a neatness that betrayed him to the real cowboy of the range, just as the clothes he wore, although they were the ordinary gentleman's outfit, were worn in a little different way that again betrayed him. One look into the face of the man, albeit his mustache and beard hid the revealing outlines of mouth and chin, sufficed to show that here was no ordinary cow-puncher. He rode boldly enough among the rocks of the trail and along the rough road, which had been made by the wheels of the wagons and hoofs of the horses. There was about him some of the quiet confidence begot of achievement, some of the power which knowledge brings and which success emphasizes yet there were uncertainty and hesitation, too, as if all had not been plain sailing on his course.

To be the resident engineer charged with the construction of a great earth dam like that across the Pickett Wire, requires knowledge of a great many things beside the technicalities of the profession, chief among them being a knowledge of men. As the newcomer threw his leg over the saddle-horn, stepped lightly to the ground, dropping the reins of his pony to the soil at the same time, Vandevanter, the engineer in question, looked at him with approval. Some subtle recognition of the man's quality came into his mind. Here was one who seemed distinctly worth while, one who stood out above the ordinary applicant for jobs who came in contact with Vandevanter, as the big mesa rose above the foothills. However, the chief kept these things to himself as he stood looking and waiting for the other man to begin.

"Are you the resident engineer?" asked the newcomer quietly, yet there was a certain nervous note in his voice, which the alert and observant engineer found himself wondering at, such a strain as might come when a man is about to enter upon a course of action, to take a strange or perilous step, such as a little smile or a slight nod, as a man might feel in his body before he plunged into the icy waters of the watery sea.

"I am," "I'd like a job," "We have no use for cow-punchers on this dam."

"I'm not exactly a cow-puncher, sir," "What are you?"

"Look here," said the man, smiling a little. "I've been out in this country long enough to learn that all that it is necessary to know about a man is 'Will he make good?' Let us say that I am nothing and let it go at that."

"Out of nothing, nothing comes," laughed the engineer, genuinely amused.

Some men would have been angry, but Vandevanter rather enjoyed this. "I didn't say I was good for nothing," answered the other man, smiling.

STATES HE HAD ONE LUCKY DAY

Tanlac Helped One Well Known Drayman After Everything Else Failed Him.

Almost everybody in Erie, Pa., knows G. W. Gundaker, of 111 East Fifth St. Gundaker, as he is fondly called by those who have admitted him for his honesty and integrity for a good many years has been a sufferer from stomach trouble and indigestion.

"I had a terrible case of stomach trouble and indigestion," he explained, "and although I had doctor's several years I could not get any relief."

"I would just about give up and get cramps after eating. Yes sir, I would feel all out of shape. The only relief I could get was by taking a little soda, and that relief was only for an hour or so at a time."

"It was a lucky day for me when I got this Tanlac, and I certainly do thank the fellow who recommended it to me. Tanlac is the only medicine that really ever helped me, and I had tried everything. Yes sir, everything I am now like a new man and I advise any one who has stomach trouble or indigestion to use this medicine. It surely will cure them. My phone number is Mutual 1779-X, and I would not mind answering any other questions about my relief."

Tanlac is now sold here by the Connelville Drug Co.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug Store—Adv.

In turn, though he was evidently serious enough in his application.

"Well, what can you do? Are you an engineer?"

"Well, I pass over the last question, too, if you please. I think I could carry a rod if I had a chance and there was a vacancy."

"Umph," said Vandevanter, "you think you could?"

"Yes sir. Give me a trial."

"All right, take that rod over there and go out on the edge of the dam where that stake shows and I'll take a sight on it."

Now there are two ways—a hundred perhaps—of holding a rod; one right way and all the others wrong. A newcomer invariably grasps it lightly in his fist and jams it down, conceiving that the only way to get it plumb and hold it steady. The experienced man strives to balance it erect on its own base and holds it with the tips of his fingers on either side, in an upright position, away from the rod, slightly backward and forward. He does it unconsciously, too.

Vandevanter had been standing by a level already set up when the newcomer arrived and the rod was lying on the ground beside it. The latter picked it up without a word, walked rapidly to the stake, loosened the target, and balanced the rod upon the stake. As soon as Vandevanter observed that his new seeker after work held the rod in the right way, he did not trouble to take the sight. He threw his head backward and raised his hand, beckoningly.

"It so happens," he began, "that I can give you a job. The rodman next in line of promotion has been given the level. One of the men went East last night. You can have the job, which is—"

"I don't care anything about the details," said the man quickly and gladly. "It's the work I want."

"Well, you'll get what the rest do," said Vandevanter, "and as you justly remarked, I have found that it is not polite out here to inquire too closely into a man's antecedents and I have learned to respect local customs, but we must have some name by which to identify you, make out your pay-check, and—"

"Do you pay in checks?"

"No, but you have to sign a check."

"Well, call me Smith."

Vandevanter threw back his head and laughed. The other man turned a little red. The chief engineer observed the glint in his new friend's eye.

"You do not expect to lighten at you," he explained, "but at the singular lack of inventiveness of the American. We have at least thirty Smiths out of two hundred men on our pay roll, and it is a bit confusing. Would you mind selecting some other name?"

"If it's all the same to you," announced the newcomer amusedly—the chief's laughter was infectious—"I'm agreeable to Jones, or Brown or—"

"We have numbers of all of those, too."

"Really," said the man hesitatingly, "I haven't given the subject any thought."

"What about some of your family names?"

"That gives me an idea," said the newcomer who decided to use his mother's name, "you can call me Roberts."

"And I suppose John for the prefix?"

"John will do as well as any, I am sure."

"We have about fifty Johns. Henry Smith appears to have been born John."

"How did you arrange it?" asked the other with daring freedom, for a rodman does not enter conversation on terms of equality with the chief engineer.

"I got a little pocket dictionary down at the town with a list of names and I went through that list with the Smiths leading them out in order. Well, that will do for your name," he said, making a memorandum in the little book he pulled out of his breast which pocket he returned to a man who had come up to the level. "Smith," he said, "by the way this is Mr. Claude Smith Mr. Roberts—here's your new rodman. You know your job, Roberts. Got to work."

And that is how Burton Meade, a few months after the failure of the great bridge once again entered the ranks of engineers, beginning, as was necessary and inevitable, very low down in the scale.

Is Quite An Event"

Annual White Sale

Our Annual February White Sale for 1917 will begin Wednesday, February 7th. In this White Sale you will find few limitations, for it is a big, broad event, planned and executed in a big liberal way, and including practically every department in the entire store that can offer any articles or materials of White. You'll find it not only a price event, but a QUALITY EVENT OF THE HIGHEST ORDER.

Other White Sales may be announced for the same time. If so these will afford a basis of comparison—as to quantity, as to quality, as to value. This we heartily welcome, for a comparison will only serve to convince you more strongly of Wright-Metzler Supremacy.

FEATURE OFFER

Another Case of Those Famous Table Linens from Scotland

If these fine linens could speak for themselves no doubt they could spin many a tale of their adventures dodging submarines and floating mines on their way from Scotland to the Wright-Metzler Store.

But the mute appeal of their elegant texture and quality, the beauty of their patterns, and the values they represent is far more convincing to thrifty shoppers than anything they might tell of themselves.

They're called "Irregular Weavings"—but there are no holes or defects to mar the wear the imperfections being so slight as to almost defy detection. Round and square patterns, floral designs, conventional designs, floral borders, plain centers dots and stripes.

Purchased months and months ago, the prices at which we offer them are fully one-third lower than their actual value today.
